

JUDGE ROBINSON ASKS VOTERS TO KNOCK OUT LAWS

Proposes Initiative Measures at Primary to Repeal Several Now on Statute Books

WANTS PEOPLE TO HEAR

Repeal of License Department Act, Motor Vehicle Tax Law, Tax Com. Among Them

Repeal of a number of measures enacted by the North Dakota legislature under Nonpartisan administration is advocated by Supreme Court Justice J. E. Robinson, who was elected with Nonpartisan endorsement, in a "Saturday Evening Letter" today. Justice Robinson proposes that initiative measures to supreme the laws objected to be submitted at the primary election next June, as follows:

Repeal of $15 annual tax on lawyers.

Repeal of state license department act, which creates branch of attorney general's office to license pool halls, theaters, etc., and under which prohibition enforcement department has been maintained.

Repeal of the motor vehicle tax law.

Repeal of the law creating the office of state tax commissioner.

Repeal of the law requiring miners to have year's experience before they can be employed in North Dakota coal mines.

Repeal of the workmen's compensation law.

Justice Robinson proposes in subsequent letters to advocate measures "to govern assessments, to liquidate, reduce, cancel or adjust all taxes, and tax sales, for the years 1919, 1920 and 1921."

The venerable justice declares that drastic action is necessary to reduce tax burdens, do away with the burden of "new fangled legislation" and to place state government on a basis consistent with the fundamental law.

The Judge's Letter.

The letter of Judge Robinson in full follows:

Will the big dailies and weeklies give the people a chance to hear from their old Judge on questions that may be submitted to the voters at the next primary election? On such matters we purpose to offer a series of timely letters and request the press to copy the same. The initial procedure is simple. The first step is to draft the proposed measure, with a petition for its submission. That should be on one sheet of paper, which may be attached to the signature pages. Each signature page is ruled into columns, with headings; each line has a marginal number with a place for signature, a place for county, name, or number of election precinct and address. The first signature would always be on line 1, at the top of the page, following the petition.

In due time, unless others do it, we purpose to have printed, and circulated, petitions ready for signatures, on several measures of importance and emergency. Here are some, in the order of simplicity.

Petition for initiative measure to repeal the $15 annual tax on lawyers.

We, the undersigned electors of the state of North Dakota, propose:

Fargo, Jan. 14.—Following receipt of wholesale complaints from North Dakota potato shippers John Lee Coulter, president of the North Dakota Agricultural College, has appointed a committee of three which is at work in the twin cities investigating such complaints involving the Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange, it was announced today. Charges have been made that settlements have been unnecessarily delayed in some cases, no cash having been received for cars shipped last fall; that cars have been allowed to stand on tracks from 10 days to two weeks with demurrage charges piling up as a result of inefficiency of the Minnesota organization and when settlements have been made no itemized account has been made of such factors as freight, demurrage, etc.

NEW BUILDING IN NORTHWEST SHOWS PROMISE

Company's Review Predicts Much Greater Expansion During 1922 Than in 1921

Building contracts awarded during December in Minnesota and the Dakotas showed an increase of 75 per cent over December a year ago, according to compilations made by the F. W. Dodge Company. The review which also covers other parts of the country, says that "the remarkably good showing of the month of December, following the record records of the four previous months, give added confirmation of the revival of construction activity. Every present indication is that 1922 will see a measurably larger volume of construction than the program carried through in 1921."

Regarding the northwest the review says:

Contracts awarded during December in Minnesota and the Dakotas amounted to $8,443,000, which was an 80 per cent increase over November and a 75 per cent increase over December, 1920.

The year's total amounted to $85,263,000, a decrease of 8 per cent from 1920. Included in this total were the following items: $23,962,000, or 28 per cent, for residential buildings; $23,216,000, or 27 per cent, for public works and utilities; $15,698,000, or 18 per cent, for educational buildings; $7,627,000, or 9 per cent, for business buildings.

Contemplated new work reported during the year amounted to $233,000,000, compared with $85,000,000 for work actually started, leaving a considerable deficit in the year's program.

NEW METHOD OF OPERATION FOR N. P.'S PROPOSED

Walter Thomas Mills Outlines New Plan He Says Will Be Undertaken in California

TO ENROLL 9 GROUPS

Would Have Representatives of Various Classes of Persons Making Up The Whole

Modesto, Calif., Jan. 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Nonpartisan League no longer intends to confine its activities to farmers, it was announced last night at the first state convention of the body in California, at which it was organized as a political party in this state. The announcement came from Walter Thomas Mills, state campaign manager for the league, who acted as temporary chairman of the convention.

Mr. Mills said the league planned to organize nine groups of citizens in the state—housekeepers, farmers, persons engaged in transportation, factory workers, commercial workers, professional men and women, members of the building trades, miners (including oil workers), and a miscellaneous group.

The league proposes, he said, an educational campaign seeking to enroll at least 100,000 families with a minimum payment of $10 from each family. Activity in the league would be commenced soon.

Among those attending the convention are D. C. Dorman of Minneapolis, national organizer of the league; Cameron King, a socialist leader; Waldo D. Summers, former executive officer of the Progressive party of Canada and Alexander Horr, once associated with Emma Goldman in lecture work.

The attendance of spectators was not large owing, head officials said, to a change in the meeting place occasioned by a conflict in arrangements.

FAR EAST IS CRUX OF FINAL PACT SOLUTION

Delegates at Armament Conference Devote More Time to Discussion of Shantung

JAPS IN CONCESSION

Washington, Jan. 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—Japan, through her armament conference delegation agreed today to transfer to China the administration of the leased territory of Kiaochow in Shantung province.

The agreement becomes effective when a complete settlement is reached on the entire Shantung controversy by the Chinese and Japanese delegates. The Japanese also agreed today to hand over to the Chinese government all documents necessary for the administration of the leasehold when the transfer is effected.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Virtual completion of the naval treaty found the armament delegates today concentrating attention more and more on the problem yet to be disposed of in the "Far East" negotiations, with settlement of the Shantung issue now viewed in many quarters as almost indispensable to the readjustment program undertaken there.

Consequently that problem not only apparently had been given the right of way with another meeting of the Japanese and Chinese delegates but was the only item on the conference program today that was expected henceforth to be the subject of the active interest and study of all the government, in the effort to reach a final solution. It was a general view among the delegates that this would materially facilitate the disposition of all remaining issues when the far Eastern discussion was resumed.

Agreement having been reached by the "Big Five" regarding the disposition of scrapped warships there remained to be settled today in completing the naval treaty only a few relatively unimportant details and the "status quo" arrangement regarding specific fortifications, the latter awaiting a reply expected hourly from Tokio. The completed treaty was expected to be ready for an executive session of the full naval committee early next week.

Mr. Cody was taken ill on December 25. For a time his condition was not considered serious, but later it took a decided change and he was brought to the hospital here where he underwent an operation. It was found, however, that the precaution had been undertaken too late and he gradually failed until the end came.

The body accompanied by a brother, E. W. Cody, was taken on train No. 5 Sunday afternoon to Northfield, Minn., for interment.

MORTON COUNTY MEN APPEAR ON BRIDGE MATTER

Temporary Fill on West Side Held Necessary for Completion of Project For Use

The matter of providing a temporary fill at the west end of the Missouri river bridge was taken up before the state highway commission yesterday afternoon at a hearing which was attended by commissioners of Morton county and a number of citizens of Mandan.

An agreement had been signed by Morton county to provide the fill and approach to the beginning of the concrete work of the bridge. The Morton county representatives asked that a causeway and road to Mandan be built and included as a part of the bridge project. The hearing was held because it was said the federal government, which is paying part of the cost of the bridge, insisted some action be taken toward providing the fill.

Obstacles in the way of the proposed new construction were found in the state law. It made a federal aid project an appropriation would be necessary from the legislature to provide for the state's share of the fund. Since the legislature does not meet until next year no work could be commenced in anticipation of an appropriation. A temporary fill grade and road will have to be made so that the bridge may be used next summer, as it is expected to be completed in the spring. At the conclusion, a representative of the Mandan men said that if some provision were made for the future it would be entirely agreeable to Morton county to carry out the agreement and provide for the temporary fill.

It was agreed to hold another meeting the day before the Good Roads meeting opens next Tuesday, at which there probably will be a representative of the government.

The length of the bridge from shore pier to shore pier is 1,413 feet, the east approach is 478 feet and the west approach is 622 feet, a total length of 2,513 feet. A causeway at least 2,200 feet long on the west end was advocated by Mandan men. P. D. Norton was spokesman for the Morton county delegation.

MUCH LAND IN N. DAKOTA CAN BE IRRIGATED

George McMahon Claims There Are 1,000,000 Acres Which Could Be Made "Farmable"

YOUNG ASKS FOR DETAILS

Congressman Wants To Find Out All About The Bismarck Project

North Dakota has close to a million acres of land that can be irrigated, according to George H. McMahon, assistant state engineer, especially in charge of irrigation projects in the state offices here. Much of the land in the central northern and western parts of the state has some possibilities of being reached by water and at some point the amount of land that might be reached by irrigation is limited by the amount of water available.

Interest in the irrigation projects in North Dakota has been increased at the present time by President Harding's recent address in which he advocated the reclamation of arid lands as a means of finding homes for soldiers of the World War who desired to engage in agriculture. North Dakota has a number of irrigation projects, the most successful one from the standpoint of a large pumping station being the one at Williston. This was opened some years ago, closed for a time and then reopened during the war under a war time act that compelled all the farms benefited by the project to become a part of the irrigation system. Most of the North Dakota projects are for pumping, but a number are for the gravity distribution of water.

Local attention was called to an almost forgotten project, known in the annals of government engineering as the Bismarck Project, through the receipt of a letter from Congressman George Young asking for the details of the plan. The local project was surveyed in 1904 and 1905 and the government reports were made at that time. The plan supported then was for a pumping station near the point where the Bismarck-Mandan bridge now stands. The project proposed was watering the bench of bottom land on the Bismarck side of the river, the higher bench known as the Fort Lincoln and a still higher elevation known as the Penitentiary bench. The first bench, approximately 25 feet above extreme low water is subject to overflow and contains about 7,000 acres. The Fort Lincoln bench has about 3,500 acres and the Penitentiary bench about the same. The report of the government engineers shows that of the three benches, about 9,000 acres were considered available for irrigation. The engineers also charted the grade from the pumping station to Long Lake, to determine the feasibility of using that as a holding reservoir for lands to the south and east of the lake.

Not a Gamble

In connection with the Bismarck project, Mr. McMahon points out that as far as the land is concerned it is not a gamble. The floods that cover the bottom lands every few years when the gorges force an overflow generally result in two good crops. For the two seasons, wheat yields from thirty to forty bushels an acre, potatoes 250 and oats as high as ninety. The production of hay is doubled for the two years.

In the 1904-05 plans of the government for this project, the original cost was placed at $27 an acre and the yearly operating cost at about $2.25 per acre. What this means in the increase in value of farm crops and land as compared to the cost has been shown in almost every part of the country where irrigation has been attempted according to Mr. McMahon.

President Harding Announces He Reluctantly Accepts Resignation of Cabinet Member

HUGE SALARY IS OFFERED

Reported Movie Interests Offered Hays $100,000 a Year To Head Association

Washington, Jan. 14.—Announcement that Postmaster General Hays will shortly retire from the cabinet was made at the White House today.

After a 40-minute conference with the Postmaster General, President Harding said he could not well interpose any objections to Mr. Hays' retirement to become head of a national association of motion picture producers and distributors.

"It is too great an opportunity for a healthful public service for him to refuse. I shall be more than sorry to have him retire from the cabinet where he had already made so fine a record but we have agreed to look upon the situation from the broadest viewpoint and seek the highest public good," the president said.

The postmaster general in discussing the matter informally said no date for his retirement had been decided on.

It was reported sometime ago that Postmaster General Hays, who was Republican campaign leader and Republican national chairman in the Harding campaign, had been offered $100,000 a year by "movie" interests to head a national association to improve the standards of moving pictures.

GRAIN GROWERS BODY SUSPENDS M. ANDERSON

Action Characterized By Latter as "Silly" Had Given in Resignation

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Suspension of J. M. Anderson as first vice-president and chairman of the sales committee of the U. S. Grain Growers Inc., and withdrawal of authority to act as northwest selling agent for the U. S. Grain Growers Inc., was announced today by the executive officers of the corporation.

The action was taken by the board of directors before the close of the regular quarterly session after Mr. Anderson had failed, they said, to make an appearance. Mr. Anderson's proffered resignation was not accepted, according to Frank M. Myers, secretary of the organization.

Anderson Answers

Fargo, Jan. 14.—J. M. Anderson, of St. Paul, whose retirement as first vice-president and chairman of the sales committee of the U. S. Grain Growers Inc., was announced by him several days ago, said that the action of the executive officers announced today in Chicago is "silly."

"I resigned on December 12 fixing January 1 as the date of my retirement," said Mr. Anderson. "Anything that might have been done by the officers since that time is without effect as far as I am concerned. They had no alternative. Announcement by them that they had withdrawn authority from me is 'silly'."

TOWN MARSHAL OF MAX IS HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

Max, N. D., Jan. 14.—Stores in Max were broken into last fall and merchandise stolen. No particular person was suspected.

A suit of clothes, ordered by L. Nelson from A. J. Zethren was missing, and Marshal Joe Pavlik appeared wearing a suit which looked to Nelson like the one he ordered.

Justice Freitag issued a search warrant and the home of Marshal Pavlik was searched and there was found suits, silk shirts, towels and different merchandise in dry goods, hardware, automobile accessories, engine equipment, dishes, frying pans, shotgun, belt, of a total estimated value of several hundred dollars.

Justice Freitag issued a warrant of arrest on the crime of grand larceny, and although Marshal Pavlik was seen a few minutes before the warrant was issued he was not found until late at night at a farm house about five miles from town. Authorities say keys found on Marshal Pavlik fitted doors of stores and a gasoline station. Marshal Pavlik is reported to have confessed to thefts, and is bound over to the district court of McLean county to await trial.

STOCKHOLDERS TO ELECT THREE NEW DIRECTORS

Equity Cooperative Exchange
Members Have Large Amount of Business to Dispose of Fargo, N. D., Jan. 13.—Amendments to the constitution and by-laws, reports of officers and the board of directors, election of three directors to fill vacancies occurring at that time and routine business will occupy the attention of the Equity Cooperative Exchange when the stockholders convene in Fargo, Jan. 17 for their eleventh annual meeting.

More than 22,000 stockholders of the exchange from the northwest states of North Dakota, Montana, Minnesota, South Dakota and Iowa will be present at the meeting, either in person or by proxy.

The most important business to come before the exchange, according to notices sent to stockholders, is amendment of the constitution and by-laws to permit representative form of government in the exchange.

Under the present constitution, a majority of all stockholders, or more than 11,000, must be present in person or by proxy to legalize any action of the exchange, and this also is expected to be changed at the annual meeting to permit 15 per cent of the stockholders to constitute a quorum to act for the corporation, according to the notice.

A third amendment would permit changes in the by-laws of the organization by a majority vote instead of two-thirds as now required.

The amendments read:
"1. At all meetings of the stockholders each stockholder shall be entitled to one vote. The board of directors may group the stockholders in local units or societies upon the basis of territorial area or such other basis as they may determine by resolution, subject to change by the stockholders at any regular or special meeting, and each such society or unit shall be entitled to be represented at the annual or other stockholders' meeting of the company, or by a delegate or delegates chosen by such society or unit. The board of directors shall make all rules and regulations necessary to carry out the provisions of this section."

"2. Fifteen per cent of all stockholders of the company, represented either in person or by delegate at any stockholders' meeting, either annual or special, shall constitute a quorum to transact any and all business."

"3. The by-laws may be amended at any annual or special meeting called for that purpose by a majority vote of all stockholders, after giving 30 days' notice by mail to each stockholder at his last known place of residence as shown by the books of the company, naming articles and sections to be amended and the amendments proposed."

CHANNELS OF EXCHANGE MUST BE KEPT OPEN

Prompt and Substantial Relief
For The Farmer Recognized
As National Necessity

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 13.—No large group of workers engaged in any legitimate business can achieve substantial and enduring prosperity for itself which denies or seeks to deny corresponding measure of prosperity to other workers in legitimate fields, Henry C. Stuart, former governor of Virginia, told the Kansas Agricultural Association convention here today.

"The channels of exchange must be kept open, and this can be done only by a just and mutual recognition of the proper relative values," he added.

"Prompt and substantial relief for the agricultural producer is now recognized as a national necessity."

"Following the close of the World War, the cry was for a return to pre-war prices for prime necessities. Industrial employees and salaried men, united in the demand for lower living cost as a means of increasing the buying power of their wages or salaries."

"In the meantime the farmer lent himself to liberal production. The result was a sudden return to pre-war and below pre-war prices for practically every product of the farm. There were other declines but there was none so drastic as that which overtook the farmer."

BERGEN FARMERS CLUB ASKS U. S. TO FIX MINIMUM PRICE ON WHEAT

Bergen, N. D., Jan. 13.—The Bergen Farmers club of Bergen township, Nelson county, has gone on record calling upon Congress to establish an emergency minimum price upon wheat. The club will endeavor to enlist other farmers' organizations in the state in the movement. The resolution follows:

"Whereas, wheat is the staff of life and the basic industry of North Dakota, and

"Whereas, due to disastrous wheat prices debts are increasing, taxes unpaid, schools being closed, bank resources are being depleted, mortgages foreclosed, farmers are leaving their farms, being driven into bankruptcy, tenantry increasing at an alarming rate, the farmers buying power wiped out resulting in general business depression and causing factories to close, throwing men and women out of employment, and

"Whereas, no industry can long endure where returns do not meet cost of operation, and

"Whereas, the increased price of wheat to the grower means but a relatively small increase in price to the consumer, and

"Whereas all industry being more or less directly dependent on agricultural prosperity makes it a matter of general importance to all citizens, and

"Whereas, President Harding in his message to Congress made the following statement: 'Something more than tariff protection is required by American agriculture. To the farmer has come the earlier and the heavier burdens of re-adjustment. There is actual depression in our agricultural industry, while agricultural prosperity is absolutely essential to the general prosperity of the whole country.'"

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the members of the Bergen Farmers club, urge our senators and representatives in Congress to use their utmost influence, diligence and expedience in passing an emergency measure establishing a minimum price on wheat which will cover cost of production plus a fair profit, and be it further

"Resolved, that we urge the press of our country and state and all organizations that have the prosperity of our state and nation at heart to do everything in their power to get favorable action by our Congress on this matter."

against the same catastrophe, either shut down their plants or operated them at reduced capacity, and thus six millions of men were left wholly or partially without employment, with corresponding loss of buying power of the commodities needed for themselves and families, aggregating thirty millions of people.

The interdependence of the agricultural worker and the industrial worker was never more forcibly illustrated. Few, if any, of the products of either class could be sold or exchanged on a basis which would yield just compensation.

"Does it not follow that the farmer must adjust himself to a new high plane of fixed charges in doing business, and that his only hope is to establish and maintain such prices as will enable him to meet successfully the changed conditions? I am of the opinion farmers should now take account collectively of the needs of the country and of such foreign countries as can be reached, and adjust their planting and sowing to meet such demand."

"What the farmer most needs is better markets and wider markets for his products. With these he can take care of himself without special governmental favors in the nature of special credits. What farmer and consumer both need is the elimination of all useless middle men, many of whom are nothing more or less than business parasites."

The farmers simply ask a belated recognition of their right to organize their business. The farm organizations truly representative of agriculture interests are essentially defensive and not offensive in nature, and are asking no measure of co-operation which they have not already extended, and are still willing to extend to other branches of business."

Other Subjects Proving More Popular With Our College Students

Chicago, Jan. 13.—The study of foreign languages has decreased 3.58 per cent in 13 leading colleges and universities of this country during the eight year period of 1911-12 to 1919-20, according to the results of a study of the distribution of student hours of instruction as submitted to the Association of American colleges by President Frederick C. Ferry, of Hamilton college, Clinton, N. Y., here today.

The report said the colleges from which this average was obtained are: Amherst, Bowdoin, Brown, Bryn Mawr, Columbia, Dartmouth, Hamilton, Harvard, Mount Holyoke, Oberlin, Princeton, Smith, Stanford, Wesleyan, Williams, Wisconsin, and Yale. The tables presented showed in percentage the proportion of the total number of hours taken in each subject to the total number of hours taken in all subjects. The results were presented in general for undergraduates in the schools of liberal arts and sciences only. The decline was from 24.92 to 21.34 per cent. The largest decrease is shown at Wisconsin, followed by Yale, Columbia, Smith, Mt. Holyoke and Princeton in order. Columbia shows the largest increase in the science group, amounting to 15.47 per cent while it is closely followed by Bowdoin with Yale and Brown in next order. In all the other subjects of the curriculum taken together an average increase of 2.71 per cent is in effect. This increase is nearly all covered by the larger amount of attention given to economics.

KRUPP WORKS NOW GOING FULL BLAST

Freighters and Tankers Are Being Built Out of Former U-Boats

Kiel, Germany, Jan. 13.—The machine guns of peace, pneumatic riveters, are rattling day and night in the former harbor of Kiel, where a score of large commercial ships are under construction, the majority of them for use in the campaign Germany is waging for control of the maritime commerce of the world.

All of the great shipyards are active, but not all of them are working toward increasing the German commercial fleet. Scores of Scandinavian, Dutch and English ships are docked here, undergoing repairs or being remodelled. The cost to the designers is negligible, and the Germans are willing to work.

The mouth of the Kaiser Wilhelm canal is congested with the traffic that is cutting through from the North to the Baltic sea. It is upon this traffic that Kiel hopes to build its commercial future; this and the shipment of cargoes to the north, when commerce with Russia flourishes again.

Laborers at Kiel are paid 400 to 500 marks per week, and skilled labor runs in some cases to 1,500 marks a week, for an eight-hour day. The unions are strong and have forced the payment of time and a half for overtime. The cost of living is low.

The Krupp works are the busiest, and Hugo Stinnes, Germany's chief industrialist, is the best patron. He built freighters and tankers out of former U-boats. Two of these recently made a round trip to Mexico in good time and without accident. When loaded the rounded U-boat understructure is below the waterline, but the boats present an odd appearance when in ballast.

The hulks of several warships are being slowly dismantled, every piece of iron being carefully stored away for use in the building of commercial boats.

Rheumatism

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It

In the year of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Sub-acute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know, for over three years. I tried every remedy, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely and such a mild condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden, some of them seventy to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and sub-acute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism, to try the great value of my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long looked-for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Don't that fail! Why suffer any longer when relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

NEW OFFICIAL HAS FAITH IN "GOLDEN RULE"

Teachings of Jesus Christ To Be "Ruling Principles of Our Business," Says Egan

BELIEVES IN "SERVICE"

Atlanta, Jan. 14.—The teachings of Jesus Christ are to be "the ruling principles of our business," said John J. Egan of this city, following his election as president of the American East Iron Pipe Company. He expressed surprise on learning that his election on such a platform had occasioned any comment.

"The directors of the organization are all church members," he explained. "They have elected another professing Christian as president, on a basis that the teachings of Christ Jesus are to be the ruling principles of the business. I am glad if the action of the directors will cause other professed followers of Christ to give this question their thought."

Christians who did not make Christ's teachings the rule for their business were characterized by Mr. Egan as "lacking faith in the power of those principles to save the world." Employees of the company have been enjoying the results of efforts of the officers to practice Christ's teachings for about eight years, it was pointed out by Mr. Egan. First, a large industrial Y. M. C. A. building was erected, he said, and "with that as a center we have been enlarging constantly the scope of the company's services to its employees. Now we have a staff including physicians, a surgeon, a dentist and a nurse. We have a mutual benefit association, operated by company and employees jointly, and recently we established a pension fund for old age or disability."

Mr. Egan summarized his "platform" briefly in the following:

Will Apply Golden Rule.
"A reasonable living wage to the lowest paid workman."
"Constant employment for every member of the organization."

"An actual application of the Golden Rule to all relations between employee and employer."
Results to the company from such a course of action, Mr. Egan believes, will include:

"Service to the community by the application of the Golden Rule and the payment of at least a comfortable living wage to each."
"Service to the stockholders by earning for them a fair return on their investment."

In proof of his contention that business may be operated successfully on the principles he advocates, Mr. Egan pointed out that in the last twelve months his company "provided work for all its employees—and this was not exactly an easy matter—and we are paying wages above the market."

Mr. Egan is known as a philanthropist and prominent layman of the Central Presbyterian church. During the war he was chairman of the commission on training camp activities for the navy, with headquarters at Washington and was a member of the executive and finance committees of the national war work council of the Y. M. C. A. and chairman of its southwestern division.

BOUND OVER ON ARSON CHARGE

Belfield Man Held To District
Court of Stark County

Dickinson, Jan. 14.—Charged with arson in the third degree, J. L. McCutchan, Charles Miller and Al Hike, all of the Belfield community, were bound over to the February term of the Stark county district court at a hearing held before Police Magistrate Walter Sterland Wednesday. Bond in each instance was set at $1,000.

The specific charge on which the three men were arrested was in connection with the fire which destroyed the buildings on the Miller farm about 12 miles south of Belfield on the night of May 8, 1931.

Leo McCutchan, chief witness for the state, alleged that Miller and McCutchan entered into a conspiracy to burn the buildings in order that insurance might be collected by Hike from whom Miller had purchased the farm on contract. He testified that the fire was set by McCutchan while Miller was in Dickinson under the pretext of having dental work done. He further declared that McCutchan had admitted the crime to him and that he had seen money that had been paid the elder McCutchan for his work. Al Metzler, another witness, corroborated the testimony of the younger McCutchan and stated that Hike had admitted to him that McCutchan had set the fire.

Previous to the fire, it was said, the place had been occupied only at intervals by Miller and the buildings were practically empty at the time. Because of its mysterious origin the blaze was thoroughly investigated by the state fire marshal who expressed the firm belief that it was the work of an incendiary.

State's Attorney Jas. P. Cain appeared for the state, Attorney H. C. Berry for Miller and McCutchan and Attorney E. H. Hune for Belfield for Hike. No testimony was offered by the defense at the hearing.

The defendants claim that the testimony of the younger McCutchan was based on a spirit of revenge and that his charges are absolutely false.

MANDAN NOTES

TREASURE HUNT MISFORTUNE FOR ONE OF PARTY

Joe Bartashevich Given 10 Years in Prison in Court at Mandan

Joe Bartashevich will spend ten years in the state prison because he neglected to hire a car which would not leave tell-tale prints in the road near the Cornelius Barnuch farm in McLean county, where two men on October 19 attempted to find $15,000, alleged to be secreted in the farm house.

Bartashevich was found guilty of burglary in the first degree last night and was sentenced to ten years in the state prison. Walter Anderson, an alleged accomplice, was placed on trial this morning. A request for a new trial was denied by Judge H. L. Berry, who also denied a plea for a stay of execution pending preparations of an appeal by attorneys for Bartashevich.

Joe Bartashevich, defendant in the trial in which he is charged with the assault and attempted robbery of Cornelius Barnuch, 60 year old farmer living between Max and Benedict in McLean county, was late Thursday afternoon placed on the stand in his own behalf when the defense opened its side of the case.

He resumed the stand for further examination Friday morning and was put through a grilling cross examination by the prosecuting attorneys.

Bartashevich admitted having rented the car with the "R. R." and "three rib" tread, tires from John Rust, young miner living near Max. However, he testified repeatedly that he and Anderson did not go in the direction of the Barnuch farm, but instead went to Benedict. He was unable to account for the marks of the "R. R." and "three rib" tires in the road near the Barnuch farm. He further testified that he and Walter Anderson, his co-defendant, had much trouble with the car.

A battle found where the distinctive tire marks had been left impressed in the highway near the Barnuch farm house was introduced as evidence yesterday by the state. Bartashevich insisted that he had never seen it before.

The attorneys for the defense were J. E. Burke and Hugh M. McCullough.

COUNTY BOND ISSUE IS SOLD

Members of the board of commissioners of Morton county yesterday unanimously agreed to a contract for the sale of approximately $200,000 worth of county bonds to Spitzer, Rorick & Company of Toledo, Ohio, for the purpose of taking up all outstanding warrants against the county.

Under the contract with the Spitzer, Rorick & Company, the county fares unusually well, securing identically the same terms given the state of North Dakota by Spitzer, Rorick & Company, who has drawn the chart of the irrigation possibilities of the state in intimate fashion and has an acquaintance with most of the land elevations and surface irregularities of the state believes that the greatest immediate prospect for irrigation is along the Little Missouri where there are little valleys or benches along the river of from 100 to 300 acres which lend themselves readily to irrigation projects. This land is especially available because of the greater ease of raising alfalfa by irrigation and the ready market for feed in that part of the state.

Betty Connolly Dies in Wisconsin

Elizabeth Mary, five year old daughter of State's Attorney and Mrs. L. H. Connolly, died shortly after noon yesterday at the home of her grandparents in Algona, Wis., after a short illness. Diphtheria was the cause.

Mrs. Connolly and daughter left Mandan December 24 for Algona to spend several weeks visiting Mrs. Connolly's parents.

Mr. Connolly, nor any of the relatives or friends knew that Betty was ill and the news of her death came as a grievous surprise. It is not believed she was sick more than a very few days.

Mr. Connolly was in Bismarck

when the telegram came, and his sister, Miss Cecelia Connolly drove to that city to advise him of the news.

Mr. Connolly will leave this evening for Algona. It is probable that funeral services will be held in that city.

FEW KICKS ON WAGE PROPOSALS

Little Interest Manifest In Hearing
To Be Held Feb. 3

Little interest is manifest thus far in the public hearing to be held on February 3 on the matter of minimum wage scales for women workers in the state, according to members of the workmen's compensation bureau.

The minimum wage scales to be considered were agreed upon by representatives of employers, the public and employees in conferences and submitted to the minimum wage board, composed of members of the compensation bureau, for adoption or rejection. Reduction of about 15 per cent was made in all classes under the minimum wage scales.

Complaints have not been forthcoming from labor, according to S. S. McDonald, member of the bureau. He said that the only complaint made by employees was verbal complaint of some employees of mercantile establishments. He said that as the scales were agreed to by representatives of labor it is not likely that there will be much objection from that source.

Some complaints have been made to Governor Nestos by workers that the scales are too low. The governor, however, is powerless to interfere either for a reduction or increase of the minimum, as the hearing was ordered by the bureau and were agreed to by persons outside the administration. The governor was not informed of the conferences except through newspaper reports.

Answering these rumors circulated to embarrass the administration the governor said: "The truth is that the commission at the time of this meeting was constituted exactly as it was under the Frazier administration, and that I had not made any appointments whatsoever to this commission. I had nothing to do with the calling of the meeting, and knew nothing about it until after it convened. Neither did I know anything about the results until after the meeting was over and I saw the reports in the press."

BOND ISSUE TO CUT EXPENSES IS SUGGESTED

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 14.—Petitions providing for the calling by the board of education of a special election for the purpose of voting upon the issuance of $50,000 in refunding bonds with which to take up outstanding warrants will be circulated in the near future according to a statement made by Wilson Eyer, president of the board of education today. If the required number of signers can be secured the election will be held as soon as the provisions of the law will permit, Mr. Eyer said.

The Dickinson school district now has a floating indebtedness of $60,000, all of which is in warrants upon which it is paying interest at the rate of six per cent. When these warrants are cashed at the banks, a discount of four per cent is charged, making a total of ten per cent that is now being paid on these warrants.

The board of education believes that in case the bonds are approved that they can be disposed of at a rate of six per cent, thus making a saving of four per cent to the taxpayers.

Many Permits Issued

Permits for a vast number of small projects have been issued by the government within the state. Some of these projects are individual and some are cooperative. Government engineers, in addition to the state engineers have worked over many of the water problems of North Dakota and the data can be available in the office for almost any proposition that the government and North Dakota decide to be necessary.

FIVE ARRESTED AT DICKINSON

U. S. Agents Make Arrests For Violation Of Dry Law

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 14.—Violators of the federal prohibition law in Dickinson were given the surprise of their lives Thursday afternoon when Lane Maloney, chief of the federal enforcement officials in the state swept into the city, hauled five alleged offenders into court, confiscated one still and quantities of home brew and mash of various varieties and stages of fermentation.

Those taken in the raid were X. L. Stein, Philip Klug, Joe Wokal and Mrs. Henry Thomas of South Dickinson and Joe Privratsky. Stein was charged with the manufacture of intoxicating liquor and with having it in his possession. Klug was charged with having a still in his possession, Wokal with having "hooch" and a quantity of mash in his possession, Mrs. Thomas with having a quantity of mash and parts of a still and Privratsky with having a quantity of rocky in his possession.

When arraigned before Walter Sterland, police magistrate, Thursday afternoon, all pleaded guilty to the charges entered against them. Sentence was made by Judge Thomas H. Bugh in the court chambers Friday morning when Stein, Wokal and Klug were each sentenced to 90 days in the Stark county jail and given fines of $200. Jail sentence in each case was suspended. In the case of Mrs. Thomas the information was withdrawn and the charges laid against her husband, who will be given a preliminary hearing. Privratsky was given a fine of $25 and costs by Judge Sterland.

ETERNITY.

The Revival meetings at the Evangelical church are continuing. Large crowds have been in attendance. Last night a very forceful and convincing message was delivered by the pastor, Rev. C. F. Strutz, on the subject of Eternity. The text was taken from Isaiah 57-58, the only place in the Bible where the word Eternity is found. Eternity has no past, future, or middle, no ends or parts. Something which always was, is and will be. If the people of Bismarck could be persuaded to expel every other thought from the consideration of their minds and think of Eternity only for one-half hour a great revival would be the result. We are all going towards Eternity. Fifty years from tonight we will not be business or professional people. We will be without titles. We will either be saved or lost souls. Lost souls in Eternity! What can lathorn the meaning of these words. Sin took angles from Heaven to hell and will take any person there who gives it room. The suffering of lost souls will be physical and mental. Memory, conscience, and reason will abide and become a source of fearful torment. The soul saved in Eternity will enjoy complete and enduring happiness, all trials past, all temptations overcome, in the presence of Jesus and loved ones to rejoice forever more. It is God's will that all should be saved. The plan of redemption provides salvation from all sin, for all men. "Whosoever will may come."

FARMERS' INSTITUTE ANNOUNCED

Three Counties, Logan, Sargent, and Dickey, To Have Meetings

Farmers Institutes of 1922 will begin in North Dakota in the South Central part of the state, Napoleon in Logan county being the first stand of the corps of instructors and farm workers. Sargent county will have the succeeding two meetings and Dickey county will be the third county visited.

The dates announced by Deputy R. G. Catron for the first week are: Jan. 23—Napoleon, Logan county. Jan. 25—Forman, Sargent county. Jan. 26—Havana, Sargent county. Jan. 27—Oakes, Dickey county.

The force for the first week of institutes will be made up of Dan C. Willard, who will discuss soils, potatoes and farm economics; Miss Clara Larson of Barnes county, who will discuss poultry, the business of the home, gardens, affairs of special interest to women, and who will also give special information on boys and girls club work; Dr. J. B. Hollenbeck, United States Inspector in charge of hog cholera control who will discuss animal diseases, presenting especially animal tuberculosis and hog cholera and Robert F. Flint, Dairy Commissioner, who will discuss dairying, cow testing, herd improvement, proper methods of feeding and proper methods of handling milk and cream.

One of the points the institute workers hope to present to the exclusive wheat farmer is a gradual reduction of the amount of land in wheat by possibly twelve and a half per cent and the substitution of corn, potatoes, sweet clover or other forage crops in the place of the wheat.

"It would amaze the exclusively wheat farmer," said Mr. Catron in discussing the necessity of change in the state, "to realize how easily the change can be made if it is gradual. If every farmer, having one hundred acres of tillable land, which has been cropped exclusively to wheat, would plant twelve and a half acres in root or forage crops during the coming growing season and would increase that a little for the following year, he would be surprised at the ease with which he attained the position of a general purpose farmer."

The institutes beginning at this time will continue for almost two months, arrangements having been made to reach some point in every section of the state.

D. 1921, and recorded therein in book 149 of Mortgages on page 234, will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises in such mortgage, and hereinafter described at the front door of the Burleigh county, North Dakota court house in the city of Bismarck, in Burleigh county, North Dakota at the hour of 10 o'clock A. MAYOR GEORGE L. OLES AT THE CASH REGISTER HE INSTALLED.

By NEA Service. Youngstown, Ohio, Jan. 13—George L. Oles, Youngstown's jazz mayor, elected as an independent in a three-cornered race, has started his term in office like a twin-six thrown into high.

Oles has installed a cash register in the city hall. So when you go in to pay your taxes or take out a peddler's license the city clerk takes your money, puts it in the cash register and rings it up with a loud bang!

And Oles has announced he'll reform the police department—by the simple expedient of letting it reform itself.

And it's reforming! "I'll give 'em the chance," Oles says, "and they'll behave all right."

Then Oles issued a ukase that married men with large families would be given preference in doling out city jobs.

"Married women who are supporting or helping to support able-bodied husbands will be fired," the mayor added. Let their husbands work and keep 'em!

"The public's going to know what's going on," Oles says. "I've got no strings tied to me. Everybody's got to behave, high and low alike."

Reforms Oles has under way are: CLOSING 75 cafes and soft drink parlors. DRIVING underworld denizens from town.

FORCING many fraternal and social organizations of high standing to close their bars.

PUTTING the lid on gambling. CUTTING the city's $1,000,000 payroll $350,000 (if the council will let him).

DEBT LIMIT TEST LIKELY

Oakes School Board May Bring Suit to Determine Validity of Law

Oakes, N. D., Jan. 14.—A test case probably will be taken to the state supreme court by the Oakes school board, assisted by other school districts similarly affected, to determine whether or not constitutional amendment, Article 35, apparently permitting school districts to increase their indebtedness to 10 per cent by vote, is operative, Attorney General Sveinbjorn Johnson having recently held, as did his predecessor William Lemke, that bonds issued under the article are illegal and void. Both hold the constitutional amendment is not self-operative.

Construction of a new Oakes school was held up after the district had voted $58,000 of bonds under the increased debt limit provision of the constitutional amendment and contracted to sell the bonds to the school land board.

Butchers Asked To Comply With the Law

That all of the "Old West" and the days of the range has not passed from North Dakota was brought to light recently by the sending out from the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor of a notice to the butchers of the state that they are expected to comply with the law concerning the reports upon the killing of branded cattle. The law requires all persons killing cattle for the sale of meats to keep a record, open to the state's attorney, of all branded cattle killed, with the name of the seller, point of purchase and description of the brand. Monthly reports also are required for the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture.

While the law is applicable to the entire state, its benefit applies more largely to the western part of the state than elsewhere. The owner of branded cattle seldom sells except to the ultimate killer, this making it more easy to detect stealing or unlawful killing of beefs.

BIRDS THAT MAY BE SEEN IN CITY DURING WINTER LISTED BY LOCAL BOY

By RUSSELL REID. So many bird students have asked me what birds winter about Bismarck that I have written this list in answer to their questions, and with the hope that they will take interest in trying to add other species. I do not claim that this list is complete, as I have not had the time to make sufficient observations myself and I do not believe another list of this kind has been published. Two well known winter birds, the snow bunting and the snowy owl, are purposely omitted, for while I have seen them in other sections of the state, never in the vicinity of Bismarck. Only those that can be truly called winter birds are included. The fact that the robin and the northern flicker have been observed at Bismarck during December does not mean that they are winter birds. Such occurrences are extremely rare and are usually due to abnormal weather conditions.

Careful observations during the winter months would doubtless add several species to this list. Tympanuchus americanus, Prairie Chicken.—Not common in the immediate vicinity of Bismarck. It is the predominating grouse about 20 miles east of Bismarck.

Archibuteo 1. sancti-johannis. Rough-legged Hawk.—Not common; a pair wintered on Hay Creek last year (1920).

Archibuteo ferrugineus. Ferruginous Rough-legged Hawk.—Not common.

Otus a. asio. Screech Owl.—Have seen a few birds in winter, but it is rare over the whole of North Dakota.

Dryobates v. leucocelas. Northern Hairy Woodpecker.—Frequent; observed during all the winter months.

Dryobates p. medianus Downy Woodpecker.—Common during mild winters; otherwise rare.

Otocoris a. hoyti. Hoyt's Horned Lark.—Frequent during the winter months.

Otocoris a. enthymia. Saskatchewan Horned Lark.—Abundant in the fall and late winter. A few are probably with us throughout the year.

Pica p. hudsonia. Magpie.—The most noticeable of all our winter birds. It is far too common, and seems to be on the increase.

Cyanocitta c. cristata. Blue Jay.—Rare in winter.

Acanthus 1. linaria. Redpoll.—Abundant in November and early December but becoming rare during the colder months.

Bombycilla garrula. Bohemian Waxwing.—Frequent; common some winters and rare in others. They were very common during the winter of 1919-1920.

Penthestes a. septentrionalis. Long-tailed Chickadee.—Common in the woods along the Missouri River. Sometimes seen in the city of Bismarck.

It may be well to mention those that might be added to this list: Gray Gyr Falcon, Great Horned Owl, Snowy Owl, and the Snow Bunting. It might be of interest to add the non-winter birds that have been seen here during November and December: Mallard Duck, Northern Flicker, Western Meadowlark, Brown Creeper, White-breasted Nuthatch, and the Robin.

*Cyanocitta c. cristata. It may be well to say in this connection that the bluejay appears to be a comparatively recent immigrant into this region. Old people of the Mandans, Arrikaras, and also of the Dakotas, while familiar with most of the native species of birds, seem to be unfamiliar with the bluejay.

1921 HAIL WARRANTS

While the state administration is working out a plan to make hail warrants convertible at par and which plan we believe will succeed — this company is prepared to purchase 1921 hail warrants, at 95 per cent of their face value today, and at whatever the market may warrant at any time later on.

We do not advise any holders to sell warrants at a discount, because we believe that they will ultimately be worth one hundred cents on the dollar.

We make this proposition now so that those who may feel obliged to dispose of them may realize upon them quickly and at the best figure the day's market warrants.

PLEASE THE WOMEN! THEN YOU'LL SUCCEED, SAYS SHE

By NEA Service.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 14.—If you can please a woman—

That's all you need, to succeed in the business world, says Mrs. Georgia Stone, who has cashed in on her knowledge of feminine psychology.

Mrs. Stone used to wear out shoe leather doing sufrage work for nothing in Warrsburg, Mo.

Ten months ago, she came to Kansas City and took her fling in the business world as manager of an apartment.

Now she manages 23 big apartment buildings in Kansas City and personally looks after about 500 families.

Her income this year probably will reach five figures.

Curtains Did It.

A pair of blue and white checked gingham curtains was Mrs. Stone's stepping stone to success.

Her first job was to fill a high-priced apartment building at a time when everyone was lambasting landlords.

She immediately fitted up a model furnished apartment in the building. She had the kitchen painted white and put checked gingham curtains at the windows.

"It's had psychology to take women tenants into bare apartments," she said.

Husbands Signed.

"What perfectly charming curtains!" exclaimed all the women who visited the apartment. Mrs. Stone offered to provide similar ones to renters.

RECONCILIATION

(Letters to Lovers)

By Winona Wilcox

The wronged wife who does not believe in divorce must face the problem of weaving the threads of her life into a brand new design.

The pattern of matrimony which she undertook when she was a bride did not endure. Surely it is unwise to imitate it. Some great change in home-making must be planned by confused wives who write letters like the following:

"My husband deserted me for a younger woman, leaving the support of our child to me for a year. Now he wishes to re-establish our home and as I do not believe in divorce, I have accepted his proposal."

"I think I have forgiven him, but can I ever forget?"

"He needs me, he says, and for the sake of our child, I think I ought to help the father to reform and settle down to a dignified manner of life."

The young wife says she has forgiven but older matrons will fancy that she deceives herself. She may conduct herself as if she had forgiven but her quick jealousy, constant suspicion and lack of confidence in the man will convince him, at least, that he has expected too much from the woman he has injured.

It is best for the wife to understand how great are the difficulties before her. It is well for the errant husband to remind himself that the wife has an emotional nature of her own, and that her moods and tempers, called out at intervals by the memory of his disloyalty, are not altogether within her control.

He cheated. He must pay. The scorned wife will try to forgive but in her heart she will usually be hoping to make him pay.

The above writer says that her husband needs her. Of course he does but why should his need be a reason for self-sacrifice on her part?

He owes the injured wife everything and she owes him nothing. His conduct has set the wife free to shape the new life with him very much as she prefers it to be.

At the time of their reconciliation, the wife usually possesses a good deal of power over her husband. Not that he is necessarily repentant and humble, for his recent triumphs in love have not contributed to his humility, but his separation from wife and child, and his longing for a settled and comfortable home have made him prudent.

Certainly no wife can have a nobler work than that of regenerating the father of her children. But if the wronged wife expects her influence to last, it is wise for her to begin to use it at the time of reconciliation.

Being at the moment down and out, the husband will make marvelous resolutions about his future behavior. It is at this period of his acute need that the wise wife will cease from troubling his harried soul and will proceed to reform him by using the methods the trespassers found effective.

CHOOSING OUR EVILS

(Letters to Lovers)

By Winona Wilcox

Often times we must make a choice of the evils of this world as well as the good. The big trouble in the lives of most men and women today is that they expect to find life all good, and that they refuse to endure patiently their necessary portion of the unavoidable calamities.

Obviously, one cannot achieve all of the joys of living; one must choose according to one's taste and opportunities. Nor can one escape all of life's evils but very often one can and one must make a choice of them.

A peculiar case in which a certain woman must choose is submitted by a trained nurse.

"I love my husband, he loves me, and wants me every day, and yet our divorce case is in court."

"He really is not worthy of a woman's love or will not be until he has finished living his life as he likes it. By that time he will be played out and only fit for nurses and doctors to ponder over."

"He was reared to believe that 'man' begins with a capital 'M,' and although he is vicious, he never will pardon me for leaving him."

"I got tired of explaining that I needed money to live on, that our boy and I occasionally needed shoes and clothes, and perhaps a little diversion. My husband believes that a wife should consider a trip to the market quite a treat, and that a woman who likes books, magazines and music is a parasite."

"After twelve years of that, I gave up. You get tired of trying to explain to a grown-up man presumably with all of his senses, what he should know himself."

"So we came to the point I see, in my profession as a nurse, women who are accorded by their husbands just what I want—love, trust, respect, companionship."

"I earn a good living for myself and child. That way, I am more fortunate and more content than I have been for years. And yet, I am so lonesome and this divorce is going to break my heart. Maybe I'm foolish."

"A good man asked me to marry him when I am free. I told him that if ever my boy's father were to ask me to marry him again, I'd simply leave a second husband as if he had no claim upon me!"

"For the sake of my son, I do not brood, but way down in my heart there's a gnawing hurt. And I know that my husband feels the same way. There are many women in his life but no woman he wants as a wife in his home except me."

"What can you tell me to lighten my burden?"

Who can tell this woman anything except that she has come to the cross-ways and must make a choice of two evils?

She knows how hard it is to live with her husband and she has found out how hard it is to live without him. In his home, she is the slave of his tyranny. Separated from him she is free financially but strangely lonely.

She can lighten her own burden—but only according to her will to make a choice—and then abide by it.

DISARMAMENT IN NORTH DAKOTA

Everywhere in the world there is a cry for disarmament. The doctrine of peace on earth and good will to men never had so much publicity. The press and the magazines teem with homilies on the brotherhood of man. Instruments of torture no longer have much standing in the war councils. The submarines and the poison gas bomb are viewed in most circles with an abhorrence that promises to reduce if not banish their potency.

North Dakota has come through six years of bitter political warfare. Every instrument of political strife has been utilized from mud batteries to verbal gas bombs. It would seem that in the year of our Lord 1922, starting with such promise of harmony and international amity, that the state political leaders might with good grace place political contention upon a higher plane.

The state is on the eve of the biennial primary struggle. It should be possible to come through it so that party alignments might prevail that will solidify party factions for the best interests of all the people of the state.

Opening up political graves, revealing nasty scars and hurling personal invectives merely confuse the issues. These political weapons have been used generally by all factions. None can claim immunity, but if the state is to forge ahead there must be an end of it all.

There is room here for a general disarmament conference among the various factions that claim to be Republicans, although party labels have lost much of their significance. Surely it will be possible to go through the next primary campaign so that Republicans can all rally around their nominees and Democrats can do likewise. As long as the mud batteries and the gas bombs befoul the political atmosphere of the state no constructive work can be done. If political spoils are more important than the principles of the two dominant parties, disgust over political methods employed will become more acute. Mudslinging from whatever source it comes does not impress the rank and file of voters of either party.

Those leaders charged with handling the political campaigns can do much to raise the standards of the combat. Strife there will be and should be along political lines until by majority vote honestly cast and counted, the issues are settled by the various parties, but political contention which dodges the issues and hurls personalities in lieu of sound sense and logic, should have short shrift at the hands of the voters.

REVERSING HIMSELF

Walt Taylor of the LaMoure Chronicle calls Percy Trubshaw to time in a recent issue of his newspaper. The Valley City Times-Record in speaking of Congressman Young's candidacy for renomination pointed with considerable gusto and pride to the fact that he served upon some of the most important House committees.

Recently, however, when Senator McCumber became chairman of an important committee and some of his friends began urging this as a valid argument for his reelection, The Times-Record asks belligerently: "Is this a one man nation?"

Mr. Taylor promptly answers that there are as good fish in the sea as ever have come out up to date and admonishes the vigorous editor of the Times-Record to watch out for short currents and crossed wires.

Political arguments when they fit our friends are conclusive, but when applicable with equal force to opponents they naturally lose some of their iridescence.

In pointing out Congressman Young's important standing in the House as a reason for his return to office Mr. Trubshaw must remember that what is sauce for the goose is also sauce for the gander, as Walt Taylor effectively discloses.

The Chronicle, however, in our humble estimation dismissed too empirically—with a wave of the editorial pen as it were—the significance of committee assignments. Mere membership on a committee often carries little weight, but the chairmanship of one of the most important committees gives the state a political asset which is legitimate campaign thunder. The Tribune agrees with the Chronicle that there must be a record of performance behind the committee assignments, but Walt Taylor's blanket indictment that standing on congressional committee is "all bunk" is a little severe, however skillfully he has tempered his conclusion.

Every candidate is going to be aided by the prestige of his committee appointments, but those alone are not the determining factors with the voters as all politicians very well know.

Just recall the defeat of the late "Jim" Tawney of Minnesota. He was chairman of the appropriations committee of the House. President Taft came to Winona and gave that famous address that buried "Jim's" political future beyond resurrection, giving the Democrats a most potent war cry in the next campaign.

It is hardly likely that Senator McCumber or his friends are going to lean wholly on such slender reeds as committee assignments in the next campaign.

CANNOT TAX BACHELORS

Legislation aimed to drive bachelors into matrimony has proved futile. Special taxes imposed in some states do not seem to have increased Cupid's batting averages. Now comes the Montana supreme court and rules that the law imposing a poll tax on all males more than 21 years of age and not heads of families is unconstitutional.

Confirmed bachelors in Montana are laughing up their sleeves. They are boasting of immunity from the shafts of Cupid or from the sting of special taxes. It is impossible to legislate those into matrimony who care not for its blessings, its trials or tribulations.

Strictly class legislation usually fails of its objective. Experience shows that when legislators try to force Utopia, they merely postpone a few aeons the day of the millennium.

WEATHERS THE STORM

R. G. Dun & Co., credit investigators, announce that American business failures in 1921 totaled 19,652.

That is a big death list. But it shouldn't scare any one into the cyclone cellar.

In 1915 there were 20,596 failures.

Nearly 2,000,000 firms were doing business in America in 1921. Failures were only about 1 in 100.

A cyclone is not alarming when it leaves 99 trees standing for every one it tears down in the forest.

More thought to businesses that don't fail. Less thought to those that do.

HORSES

The country now has about 20,200,000 horses, compared with 13,537,000 in 1900.

That is how the auto is making the horse pass out.

Horses have practically disappeared from city streets. Apparently, though, they've just moved to the farm, where they're plugging away same as ever.

Like most new things, the auto merely has added to our list of convenience, instead of driving out something already established, to make room for itself.

NORTH DAKOTA WRONG AGAIN

The Supreme Court annuls the special excise tax which North Dakota levied on railways proportioned to their mileage within that State of erratic notions. An excise tax like that could exclude railways from any State or be used to compel conformity to State rate regulation. Since the power to tax is the power to destroy, it follows that competition among the States to overtax the railways could ruin them, and national commerce with them. That is no idle theory. It is exemplified by the argument on behalf of all the States before the Supreme Court that the States can fix intrastate rates at will, without reference to the orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission that the States shall not make rates discriminatory against national commerce.

Several States have discriminated in the manner of North Dakota in the matter of rates, and there is even pending a bill to make lawful action of that sort which the Supreme Court has more than once declared unlawful. Only those who think it in the public interest that the railways should be ruined can approve unlimited taxation of them, or confiscation of their earnings by statutes or orders of commissions that commerce shall be carried below cost of transportation. The bills pending in Congress would allow the regulation of rates down to the limit of confiscation. There the courts would intervene, and it is arguable that already there are grounds for such intervention. But public opinion is ripening in support of the Transportation act, which allows a profit if it can be earned and which would disallow compulsory costs that would prevent such reasonable profits. There is no greater stimulus to profits in general than the making of profits by the railways. The rehabilitation in that manner of the credit of some twenty billions of capital investment would start a buying movement among related industries which would reduce unemployment by enlarging wage payments.—New York Times.

IRISH TRADE BOOM TO ATTRACT U. S. MONEY

BY MILTON BRONNER
Dublin, Jan. 14.—While Europe's diplomats are at Cannes trying to bring back the world's economic balance by restoring the purchasing power of Germany and Russia, Ireland is getting ready for a wholly independent industrial revival.
That will take place as soon as the pact giving Ireland self-rule is ratified. And it will be of so great a scope that it will go a long way toward restoring prosperity to the whole world.
E. J. Riordan makes this prediction. He knows more than anyone else about Irish business. He's secretary of the Irish Industrial Development Association and is in close touch with hundreds of Irish business firms.

Two Sources
Capital for the revival will come from two sources, Riordan says.
First—from the Irish stocking banks. Irish peasants have millions hidden away in mattresses and sugar bowls. They didn't trust the banks under British rule. Now they'll throw their funds into business development.
The other big source of funds will be the United States. American capitalists are ready to throw millions into the Irish industrial net as soon as conditions become stabilized.
Then what will happen?

"Creameries and cooperative enterprises will double production of butter and cheese," Riordan says.
"The fresh meat industry and its by-products will boom. Because Ireland has a big advantage over America, Australia and New Zealand in this line, Ireland's nearest to the market—England."
"An increase in meat production means an increase in the leather and tanning industry, once one of Ireland's biggest industries."

America To Aid
"That means more shoe factories. And that's where American capital will come in. The most successful New England shoe manufacturers are Irishmen. They'll establish factories here."
"Dublin and Cork won't be the only industrial cities. A string of industrial towns will spring up mushroom-like along the Shannon. That river has wonderful waterpower possibilities."

Ireland needs but one thing to make her industrial development complete, Riordan says. That's a more efficient network of railways.
The British government laid out rail lines for strategic purposes. The new government, Riordan hopes, will reorganize railways along lines of economic advantage.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Nancy and Nick went home after the visit to Soap-Bubble Land with Buskins, because Buskins said that he had an important engagement and would have to leave them. "But if you come out to the orchard tomorrow," he promised them, "I shall meet you under the apple-tree and we'll take a ride up into the sky in our little elevator and see more wonders."
Although, dear knows, you may see nothing at all, because the place I want to take you to next is sometimes called Emptyland. But sometimes it is also called the Land of Everything, depending entirely upon Whizzy Tornado. If Whizzy has been at his tricks, blowing things sky high off the earth, you may see everything from milk bottles to barn doors.

"That's where I am going now, to see if there is plenty of room for the poor things to come to when Whizzy gets after them. We fairies keep it cleaned out the very best we can."

Buskins had been shrinking into his high boots all the time he was talking and now nothing remained but the boots themselves, and with a little shake they were gone, too.
The Twins didn't forget what the little fairyman had said, so bright and early next morning they were out under the apple-tree. The Magical Mushroom appeared with Buskins, and bringing the Green Shoes. "And I think that I'd better give you another language charm, kiddies," said their dear old friend. "Here you are!" And, as he had done a long time before, he gave the children another piece of the pink lining of his round hat.

When he was gone, the Twins wished themselves up into the little elevator-house at once, followed instantly by Buskins. As before, the little car rose smoothly up between clouds of pink and white blossoms, right into the sky.

POETS' CORNER

AUTUMN
The orchard grass is yellow,
The leaves are red and gold,
The apples have turned mellow,
The nights are growing cold.

The partridge from the valley,
His cheery note sends forth,
The birds begin to rally,
To leave the frozen north.

From out the naked branches,
The hoot-owl's screech is heard,
Its strident call enhances
The fear of every bird.

The cold wind 'round us whistles
A sad, but sweet refrain,
And sends the rolling thistles
O'er all the hill and plain.

It's pronounced — de-krep-i-tude, with accent on the second syllable.
It means—weakness or feebleness of old age.
It comes from—Latin "decrepitu", noiseless, because old people walk about silently.
Companion word—decrepit.
It is used this way—"Since he became 70 his decrepitude has increased."

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Bismarck, N. D.,
January 14, 1922.

Editor Tribune:
In writing relative to the disposition on the part of the government of the Fort Lincoln property which has appeared in the Bismarck Tribune in recent issues it may be of interest to the public to know that the State Humane and Society for the Friendless has been in correspondence with Congressman George M. Young relative to the same subject.
Mr. Young replied under date January 5th inst: "In reply will say that every effort in the past to have these buildings utilized for any purpose has been unsuccessful. It is too bad the buildings of such value should not be put to some good use. I shall try again to interest the Department in permitting you to use one of the buildings."
Possibly if pressure from sufficient number of bears were unremittently brought to bear on the War Department together with some good man at Washington, or sent from here there with time at disposal, something in time might be accomplished for use of part or all of the buildings at the fort.

DICKINSON BANKS MAKE CHANGES AT ELECTIONS

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 14.—Three Dickinson banks made changes in their directorate at the annual stockholders' meetings held at the various institutions.

At the Merchants' National bank the names of A. H. Deiters, J. W. Reed, W. A. Blume and Charles Bakke, were added to the board, thereby increasing the number of directors from seven to eleven.

At the Dakota National bank C. F. Merry retired from the board of directors, his holdings in the institution being taken over by Lyall B. Merry, who was elected as a member of the board for the coming year.

Dominik Vrana, who for the past several years has served on the directorate of the Liberty bank, declined re-election. Mr. Vrana intends leaving in the near future for the west to locate permanently. Wenzel Jirg, prominent farmer of the north country, was elected in his stead.

No changes were made at the National bank. The Farmers State bank will hold its annual meeting later.

A FRIEND IN NEED A FRIEND INDEED

Writes Mrs. Hardee Regarding Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Los Angeles, Calif.—"I must tell you that I am a true friend to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken it off and on for twenty years and it has helped me change from a delicate, healthy woman. When I was married I was sick all the time until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in bed much of my time with pains and had to have the doctor every month. One day I found a little book in my yard in Guthrie, Oklahoma, and I read it through and got the medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and took eight bottles and used the Sanative Wash. I at once began to get stronger. I have got many women to take it, just by telling them what it has done for me. I have a young sister whom it has helped in the same way it helped me. I want you to know that I am a 'friend indeed,' for you were a 'friend indeed.'"

BISMARCK HIGH SCHOOL QUINT BEATS VALLEY CITY HERE IN BEST NET GAME OF THE SEASON

Locals Nose Out 18 to 13 Victory, Making Fine Spurt Near Close of the Game

BOTH TEAMS PLAY WELL

(BY JOHN HASSELL.)

Bismarck High School's basketball quintet last night won a hard fought game from Valley City by a score of 18 to 13. The teams are very evenly matched, both of them showing strong offense and defense work.

The game started out furiously, neither side being able to break through the other's defense for a close shot in the first few minutes. A foul was called on Valley City and Alfson made the first throw. Werten shot two long ones, both of them coming very close. A second foul was called on Valley City and Alfson made the second free throw. A foul was called on Bismarck and Werten making the first free throw for Valley City. Another foul was called on Valley City and Alfson made his third free throw.

The fourth team work Valley City then advanced the ball toward her basket and Forde, Valley City forward made the first field goal of the game. The Bismarck team followed this with some fast team work advancing down the floor, where, from about 15 feet from the basket, Alfson made the first field goal for Bismarck, making the score 2 to 2. Klutt followed Alfson a couple minutes later with another field goal. A foul was then called on Bismarck, Werten making a free throw and followed it about three minutes later with a field goal, making the score 7 to 6 in Bismarck's favor.

Bismarck called time out Klutt made field goal. Bismarck took time out again. Neither team scored in remainder of first half.

Score, 9 to 6 in Bismarck's favor.

Second Half

A foul was called on Bismarck at beginning of the second half. Holmes made a free throw. Alfson made a free throw. A double foul called on Bismarck. Holmes missed both free throws, but followed a couple minutes later with a field goal. Alfson followed with a field goal and Holmes made another. Bismarck called time out and Forde followed with another field goal for Valley City. Burke made one for Bismarck. Valley City called time out. Burke made a field goal and ending with the score 18 to 13 in Bismarck's favor.

Both Fight Hard

The men on both teams showed up exceptionally well, fighting hard and playing fast ball all through the game. Doyle and Scroggins, Bismarck guards, did splendid work and held their opponents down as well as could be expected. Klutt, Alfson and Forde played a fast and clever game. Werten, Bushdick and Holmes showed up fine for Valley City.

Line Up

Valley City: Werten, B. Forde, H. Holmes, C. Alfson, H. Bushdick, Rg. Spencer, referee.

Bismarck: H. Klutt, Rf. Burke, C. Alfson, H. Scroggins, Rg. Doyle.

Valley City plays Mandan tonight. In the valley ball game which preceded the basketball game the Bourgeoisie won from the Rotary Club team, two games out of three. The last game was 15 to 14.

JEWISH LEADERS OF STATE TO MEET IN FARGO TO TALK RELIEF PLANS

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 14.—David N. Naftalin, state chairman of the Jewish War Relief campaign, announced today that a conference of North Dakota Jewish leaders would be held in this city on January 22 to perfect plans for raising the state's $50,000 quota of the $14,000,000 national fund.

The American Jewish Relief Committee, which is headed by Louis Marshall, of New York, is making the national appeal in behalf of the Jewish war sufferers of the Ukraine and other sections of Eastern and Central Europe. All Jewish war relief funds collected in the United States are administered in Europe by the Joint Distribution Committee, of which Felix M. Warburg is chairman. David A. Brown, of Detroit, is directing the national campaign. The Seven, which includes the two Dakotas and eight other states, is under the direction of Charles Rubens, with headquarters at 110 South Dearborn street.

"Appalling does not begin to describe the condition of the Jews in the devastated regions of Europe," Mr. Naftalin said. "They have been reduced to a state of abject misery and despair that is probably unparalleled in the history of the world. Nothing except assistance from America can save hundreds of thousands of them from death by starvation or typhus.

"At least 300,000 Jewish orphans, whose parents have been slain in pogroms or have succumbed to hunger or disease, are wandering like wild animals over the countryside or thru city streets in a never-ending search for dress, clay, grass, roots, bark or something else to put into their stomachs. These homeless, hungry, half-naked and sick children are absolutely without guardianship. As rapidly as the money is available the Joint Distribution Committee rescues the innocent little sufferers and places them with families on the other side at an average maintenance cost for each child of $100 a year.

"Some 250,000 Jews in the Ukraine have been wantonly murdered in pogroms since November, 1918. The 3,500,000 still alive are in constant fear of new outbreaks. Their belongings have been confiscated or destroyed, their wives and daughters outraged and they are without food, medicine or clothes."

ler and any number of others, have made a base hit by taking a healthy cut at the cripple.

Often you hear a batter criticised for hitting at the ball with the count three balls and a strike, or two balls and no strikes. Many of the fans figure the batter should have waited the pitcher out.

It is at such a time that the really great hitters of the game get set to take a cut at the next offering. They know they have the pitcher in the hole. They realize he must get the next ball over. Very often in so doing, the pitcher eases up and his delivery is far from puzzling.

This feature of batting was brought strongly to my attention in a series at Chicago last summer. Bib Falk of the White Sox gives promise of developing into a great hitter. Falk has a good eye, hits nicely at the ball, but of course lacked the experience and cunning of the star.

Washington was playing in Chicago at the time. The first day of the series, Falk had looked rather badly at the bat. He had struck out several times after getting the pitcher in the hole. The following day, sitting on the bench next to Eddie Collins, one of the best hitters in baseball, Falk was discussing his poor showing.

"Pick on the apple, Bib," said Collins. "Don't let the pitcher slip over a couple of soft ones when you

MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS PICK SPRING TRAINING CAMPS

Connie Mack is the only major league manager who has failed to select his training camp for the opening season.

It has been reported that Connie Mack has practically decided on Eagle Pass, Texas.

There is also a rumor that Bobby Quinn may not take the St. Louis Browns to Bogalusa, because of some difference over his contract.

The Athletics trained at Lake Charles, La., last season, and seemed to like the place, Connie, however, has decided not to return there, and is looking for another spot.

There are some unkind critics who insist that going south is merely a waste of time on the part of Connie. His club has already been conceded last place in the American League.

TRAPSHOOTERS OF STATE WILL HOLD MEETING

Headquarters of State Association Are Transferred To Dickinson

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 14.—Dates for the 1922 tournament of North Dakota trapshooters were this week fixed for June 14, 15 and 16 by officials of the state association. The tournament, which will be held in Dickinson, will be conducted under the auspices of the Dickinson Town and County Club at the local grounds.

A long list of prizes have now been collected by the committee in charge. These will be awarded to crack marksmen during the days of the shoot and include besides two loving cups and the usual gold medals, $500 in cash prizes.

By the action of E. L. Peterson, a president and J. W. Sturgeon, as secretary, at the state meet held in Grand Forks last year, the headquarters of the North Dakota Trapshooting association were transferred to Dickinson. These officials are now planning a campaign to organize 1500 association wherever possible in the smaller towns of the state. Under a new union such clubs will qualify for membership in the American Trapshooting association. This is expected to have a tendency to boost the attendance at the state meet and indications are that the 1922 tournament will be the biggest in the history of the association.

Anticipating this, members of the Dickinson Gun club are planning extensive improvements at the local grounds. The office and tool house used by Contractor Charles Bakke on the Normal school site has been purchased and will be transformed into a gun club house upon its removal to the grounds. An additional Spangler automatic trap has been ordered making a battery of three to be used in the shoot. Many other improvements are also contemplated.

The first day of the tournament will be given over to practice shooting while the events of the two following days will be open to registered shooters only.

MCGRAW SEEKS THREE TITLES

Manager of Giants Wants To Win Three World Series in a Row

John McGraw of the New York Giants seek new laurels in the managerial world.

No manager has ever won three world series in a row. That is what McGraw is aiming at.

The jockey leader of the Giants is on the way to accomplish that desire. He won a pennant and a world championship in 1921.

McGraw believes that the addition of Groh, and possibly one or two other deals he has in mind, will render the Giants well might invincible for a couple of years.

It is said McGraw plans to retire from the active management of the club at the close of the 1923 campaign. He hopes by that time to have made a record that will give the managers of the future something to shoot at.

No major league manager has ever won three championships in a row. Chance has come the closest.

When he ruled the Chicago Cubs, Chance won three pennants, but only two world championships.

The Chicago Cubs captured the National League pennants in 1906, 1907 and 1908. The White Sox beat Chicago's great team in 1906 for the title. The next two years the Cubs defeated the Detroit Tigers without much trouble.

Hughie Jennings when in charge at Detroit won pennants in 1907, 1908 and 1909, but was never able to beat a National League club in the annual classic.

Connie Mack won pennants and world championships in 1910 and 1911 but was unable to make it three in a row. The Boston Red Sox beating his club out in 1912.

With a young ball club, an aggregation of hard hitters, fast fielders and good base runners, McGraw has a great chance. He is a big favorite to repeat in the National League this year.
